Attachment to North Carolina Private Protective Services Board Complaint Form

Complainant is DOEs #13, #16, #17, and #19 in federal action 07-cv-00405 by and through his attorney Stephen E. Robertson. DOEs #13, #16, #17, and #19 desire to remain anonymous and the federal action is designed to uncover his identity. Any correspondence with the complaining party should be addressed to Stephen E. Robertson at 125 S. Elm St., Suite 100, Greensboro, NC 27401.

The nature of the complaint is that the Big 4 companies who dominate the recording industry, the enforcement/lobbying arm of the music industry – the RIAA – and MediaSentry have devised an investigation scheme that we believe is both illegal and seriously flawed. The scheme is based on secret private investigations by unlicensed, unregistered and uncertified private investigators.

These private investigators claim to have entered the hard drives of hundreds, if not thousands, of private North Carolina citizens to look for music recordings stored there. This personal invasion is being investigated in many other states. If music was “discovered” through this process, the private investigators would then sell the identity of the computers’ internet protocol address to the RIAA and the Big 4 record companies.

We believe that in all these cases the MediaSentry acquisitions of the data were done by surreptitious means; and the sale of the information to the Big 4, are investigations constituting a series of crimes in North Carolina. According to the Private Protective Services Act, the private detectives and/or private investigators from MediaSentry engage in the profession for the purpose of “[s]ecuring evidence to be used before [a] court ...” N.C. Gen. Stat. § 74C-3(a)(8)e. We believe that MediaSentry’s investigators are not licensed in North Carolina. The Private Protective Services Act specifically requires a license. N.C. Gen. Stat. §74C-2(a).
